Weſtminſter, April 24.

THIS Day His Majeſty came to the Houſe of Peers, and being in His Royal Robes ſeated on the Throne with the uſual Solemnity, Sir Septimus Robinſon, Knt. Gentleman Uſher of the Black Rod, was ſent with a Meſſage from His Majeſty to the Houſe of Commons, commanding their Attendance in the Houſe of Peers. The Commons being come thither accordingly, His Majeſty was pleaſed to give the Royal Aſſent to,

An Act to confirm all Leaſes already made by Archbiſhops and Biſhops, and other Eccleſiaſtical Perſons, of Tythes and other Incorporeal Hereditaments, for one, two, or three, Life or Lives, or Twenty-one Years; and to enable them to grant ſuch Leaſes, and to bring Actions of Debt for Recovery of Rents reſerved, and in Arrear on Leaſes for Life or Lives.

An Act for enlarging the Times limited for executing and performing ſeveral Proviſions, Powers, and Directions, in certain Acts of this Seſſion of Parliament.

After which His Majeſty was pleaſed to make the following moſt Gracious Speech:

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

THE tender Concern, which I feel for My faithful Subjects, makes Me anxious to provide for every poſſible Event, which may affect their future Happineſs or Security.

My late Indiſpoſition, though not attended with Danger, has led Me to conſider the Situation, in which My Kingdoms, and My Family, might be left, if it ſhould pleaſe God to put a Period to My Life, whilſt My Succeſſor is of tender Years.

The high Importance of this Subject to the Public Safety, good Order, and Tranquility; the Paternal Affection, which I bear to My Children, and to all My People; and My earneſt Deſire, that every Precaution ſhould be taken, which may tend to preſerve the Conſtitution of Great Britain undiſturbed, and the Dignity and Luſtre of it's Crown unimpaired; have determined me to lay this weighty Buſineſs before My Parliament: And as My Health, by the Bleſſing of God, is now reſtored, I take the earlieſt Opportunity of meeting you here, and of recommending to your moſt ſerious Deliberation, the making ſuch Proviſion, as would be neceſſary, in caſe any of My Children ſhould ſucceed to the Throne, before they ſhall reſpectively attain the Age of Eighteen Years.

To this End, I propoſe to your Conſideration, Whether, under the preſent Circumſtances, it will not be expedient to veſt in Me the Power of appointing, from Time to Time, by Inſtruments in Writing, under My Sign Manual, either the Queen, or any other Perſon of My Royal Family uſually reſiding in Great Britain, to be the Guardian of the Perſon of ſuch Succeſſor, and the Regent of theſe Kingdoms, until ſuch Succeſſor ſhall attain the Age of Eighteen Years; ſubject to the like Reſtrictions and Regulations, as are ſpecified and contained in an Act, paſſed upon a ſimilar Occaſion, in the Twenty-fourth Year of the Reign of the late King, my Royal Grandfather: The Regent ſo appointed to be aſſiſted by a Council, compoſed of the ſeveral Perſons, who, by reaſon of their Dignities and Offices, are conſtituted Members of the Council eſtabliſhed by that Act, together with thoſe whom you may think proper to leave to My Nomination.

Whitehall, April 27.

The King has been pleaſed to grant unto Sir Richard Wrotteſley, Bart. Maſter of Arts, and one of His Majeſty's Chaplains in Ordinary, the Deanry of the Cathedral Church of Worceſter, void by the Death of Dr. John Waugh, late Dean thereof.
